Policing in Europe

Journal of Police Studies nr. 16

dr. Antoinette Verhage
Chief editor / editorial secretariat

Journal of Police Studies (Cahiers Politiestudies)

Journal of Police Studies:
An academic series...
...aimed at high-quality, multidisciplinary contributions...
...on police issues and phenomena of interest to the police

Guided by an editorial board consisting of members of the Centre for Police Studies (CPS) and the Society, Security & Police Foundation;

Editors: Paul Ponsaers, Lodewijk Gunther Moor, Elke Devroe;
Chief Editor: Antoinette Verhage
Editorial secretariat: Lieselot Bisschop & Antoinette Verhage

Maklu-Uitgevers
Journal of Police Studies

- Belgium & The Netherlands
- 4 issues per year;
  - Started in 2006; currently 5th volume
- Each issue edited by guest editors
- Published in Dutch; always one issue/year in English
- Double-blind peer-reviewed series
- Authors and reviewers are both academics and (police) practitioners
Cahier 16: Policing in Europe

- Aims
  - Belgian Presidency
  - Transnationalisation of police in Europe
- 2 domains:
  - Police cooperation
  - Police models:
    - Community policing
    - Plural policing
- Editors: A. Verhage, J. Terpstra, P. Deelman, E. Muylaert, P. Van Parys

Table of contents

Police cooperation in Europe:

- The past, present and future of general police cooperation within the European Union (Cyrille Fijnaut)
- The Raft of the Medusa; further contributions towards a Constabulary Ethics (James Sheptycki)
- The proliferation of parallel tracks in police and judicial cooperation in Europe: the current ‘chaos’ (Laure Guille)
- The Politics of Partnership: Challenges to Institution Building in European Policing (Peter Neyroud & Peter Vassilas)
- Standardization in the area of scientific evidence in European Union (Pawel Rybicki)
Table of contents (2)

- Europe’s police information exchange: an exercise in information management (Guy Cordeel)
- The “new” principal task for Europol to support Member States in connection with major international events. The blurring of boundaries between law enforcement and public order? (Alexandra De Moor & Gert Vermeulen)
- Europol, the high potential EU law enforcement agency, despite the Member States. How serious is the problem, knowing that Belgium is “a good pupil in the Europol class”? (Roger Vande Sompel)
- Cross-border public order policing in the Dutch border areas (Toine Spapens)
- Europeanization of the Hungarian National Police (Jozsef Boda)

Table of contents (3)

II. Police models:

- Community oriented policing
  - COP’s vulnerability to paradigm swing (Maurice Punch)
  - Community policing in the Netherlands and the use of other related police models: problem-oriented, disorder and reassurance policing (Jan Terpstra)
  - Ideology as a cover up: Community policing in Norway (Paul Larsson)
  - Police socialisation in France and in England: How do they stand towards the community policing model? (Damien Cassan)
  - Community-oriented Policing in the Netherlands: a process with many obstacles (Peter van Os)
Table of contents (4)

- Plural policing
  - The World of Policing and Security is Not Flat (Bob Hoogenboom)
  - Explaining the growth of plural policing: Comparing the Netherlands and Britain (Ronald van Steden & Trevor Jones)
  - Renaissance, Reassurance and Restoration? Community Wardens and the urban realm in Scotland (Donna Marie Brown & Nicholas R. Fyfe)
  - More effective policing? Intensify private police partnership! (Bert Wijbenga & Pieter-Jaap Aalbersberg)
  - Private Security in a Plural Policing Environment in Slovenia (Andrej Sotlar)

To be expected in 2011...

- Cahier 20: Technological led policing (September 2011)
- Editors: Paul Ponsaers, Kees van der Vijver, Willy Bruggeman, Piet Deelman